President's Message

by Jim Zuelow (Jimzuelow@aol.com)

It has been my pleasure to serve as your President for the past six years. Now, it's time the ACC has a new President and so this is my last President's Message. I particularly want to thank all the past and current directors and officers for their advice and considerable help during my term of office. The Club is particularly fortunate to have dedicated, hard workers like Vice-President Angela Watson, and Secretary-Treasurer & TAP Editor Eric Knapp; both of whom made my work a lot easier. In fact, I've really enjoyed working with them, the other members of the Board of Directors, and many other individual ACC members during my term of office. I'm looking forward to continuing as a member of the Board as your Immediate Past President, taking the place of Caye Carufel who served as ACC President before Eric Knapp.

Without going into details, the Club is in good financial condition, has Board members who all take part in Club matters, and has leadership that recognizes the need to try to change with the times. The creation of an ACC website (www.AlaskaPhilatelic.org) was one important way we changed with the times.

An issue the Board of Directors is continuing to examine is if and how we might expand our scope and membership to serve collectors of other kinds of Alaskana and those more broadly interested in Alaska history. This possibility is definitely in the "thinking about" stage with no specific proposal being considered by the Board at this time. What do YOU think about expanding the ACC's focus?

An informal decision was recently made to discontinue seeking US Internal Revenue Code 501(c)(3) status for the ACC. It was thought this status might help those members who make significant personal contributions to the Club (like Eric Knapp who is producing a CD library and index of past issues of The Alaskan Philatelist). This effort was discontinued because of the burden it would have placed on the Club, and because it might be possible to work with other organizations who already have tax-exempt status such as The American Philatelic Society. Incidentally, I would like to mention that tax-exempt status would likely not be of much help to non-US members like Dirk van Gelderen, who created and maintains the extensive online Alaska Statehood Postmark Catalog (www.esveld.nl/alaska/alaska) from his home in the Netherlands entirely at his own expense!

While the ACC is fortunate to have officers and members who contribute a great deal to our hobby, additional volunteers are needed to serve as Nominating Committee members, or perhaps help initiate an ACC Awards program, etc. Becoming active is also a very good way to make new friends, another membership benefit! Please remember to vote in the ACC election. The Season's Greetings to each of you!

Secretary Treasurer's Report

Eric Knapp (eknapp@gci.net)

Well, we are coming to the end of 2009. I can't say it has been a great year but it has been an interesting one. The economy has affected pretty much everything, including collecting. It looks like things may be turning around, but we will see. Even with a degree in Economics I try to avoid making predictions, or maybe because I have a degree in it I know the dangers of making predictions. As John Kenneth Galbraith once said, "The only function of economic forecasting is to make astrology look respectable."

How many of us have our collections in such a state that a complete stranger to collecting could walk in and figure it out? Not many of us, I would bet. Dave Schwantes has an article about just this. I urge everyone to read it and act on his advice. I know I am going to do that this winter.

On to better things. Along with this issue of the journal you will find the notice for payment of annual dues and a ballot for the club elections. If you could fill out and return both of these quickly it will be a great help. They can be sent back in the same envelope. The short biographies of the candidates are elsewhere in this issue. We are also asking for the memberships approval of a bylaw amendment to change the terms of office for the officers and directors form two years to four years.

The deadline for the return of the election ballots is January 31, 2010.

We have a new member to welcome to the club.

#704 Mike Troubetzkoy San Francisco, CA

Thank you for joining.

Until next time, Happy New Year and Happy Collecting!

Margaret Bates Writes Home, circa 1912

The Raymond and Margaret Bates Correspondence, Part 3

transcribed by Eric Knapp

Ed. Note: This is a continuation of the correspondence from the early days of the 20th century. They are letters to, from and about a pair of brother and sister teachers in northwest Alaska. This is a letter home from the village of Kivalina. This correspondence comes from the estate of longtime ACC member Robert Potts. Thank you to Ross Hallan (Robert's son in law) for bringing it to my attention.

> Kivalina, Alaska August 7, 1912

Dear Parents,

I have just time to write you a hurried line. By the way Raymond has been pounding that typewriter I think he has left little for me to write anyway. But there are some things I am sure he will not tell you about.

The "transit," the boat which has our supplies, passed here last Wednesday. She waited around here three days, but was unable to make a landing, it was so very stormy. So now our supplies have gone to Barrow. However they put some mail off at Point Hope and it came to us by oomiak day before yesterday. There was a sack full. Imagine our feelings. It is almost four months since we had outside mail.

There were six letters form you, and Raymond received an equal number from Portland. Yesterday more came on the "Bear." I have the dress you sent. Be assured it is none too warm. I wear all the clothing I can stand to carry around in the winter. By "cotton corduroy" I meant not the silk, but the same as men's pants are made of. However the material you selected is better. I wonder how you came to choose that color? It just matches my eyes and is certainly becoming. The fit is perfect except at the throat it draws. I think I can let it out at the shoulder seams. Then I will make it a little shorter. I expect to wear it on the trip up the coast. We have received many magazines from you. We have no time for them now but we will greatly appreciate them this winter, or rather next spring when our work begins to slack up. We are pretty well supplied with reading now. I must have about 3 dozen books also a gunny sack of old magazines they gave me at Point Hope. The white people there had all read them.

Going back to the dressmaking subject. I think I won't have to trouble you any more for I have discovered that I can sew a little too. I hope I will have a sewing machine this winter. Am glad you sent the patterns. I ripped up an old calico dress to get by as it wasn't a good bit to begin with I did considerable remodeling.

What do you think of our transfer? We will be about 100 miles from Barrow. There is more money and more experience in it and that is what we came up here for. They tell us there are a good clan of natives there and no missionaries or traders to "scoop" with. The school house is a new building but not so large as this one. Also there are no mission thing so will not live in quite so much luxury.

Momma, I am shocked to think you let so many people read my letters. I usually "let loose" when I write home.

Had a letter from Norma, also from Amelia Chaney. They say we wouldn't know Barrow, it is about three times as large – the Methodists have built a new church and Norma says the people are different. Norma and Bessie have charge of the Junior League. These girls are all in the high school – they have a four years course now and good teachers. Mrs. Morgan and Linda attend the Baptist Church. Mable Edwards has a baby boy four months old. She is coming home on a visit this summer. Mrs. Jensen is living in Barrow. Laures have about finished their new house – six rooms plus hallway. Norma sent me a picture of Plunna. Says she is spoiled – you would expect that. Will send you Rod's letter. He explains matters well. He certainly has played in hard luck, but I guess he has starring qualities.

I love how you send me these patterns. I should try to teach sewing this winter if I can get material to work with.

Have finished a painting and have it hanging on the wall. It is a moms rose and three birds. Enlarged it from a post card – is "life size." It is not without flaw but is my most successful attempt at the artist stump. Wish I could send it to you.

It is beautiful today – warm and still and the sea is smooth as glass – quite a rest after our big storms. We began to fear our freight boat would be wrecked again this year. Some natives started down coast form Point Hope and were three weeks making this village. The Crowbill eggs we ordered – 40 dozen – were on that trip. They were packed in green grass. The grass was rotten and the eggs moulded and the yolks stick to the side of the shell. I think they are not worth shipping to Wainwright. We ordered no dried eggs this year either so I am up against it.

The other day I packed up a couple of blankets and some grub and went across the lagoon to the reindeer camp and spent the night. Next morn Ida and I went salmon berrying. We got a water pail each. I made mine into marmalade (I have no fruit jars). Mind you I had that stuff on the stove yesterday and it had boiled over. Also I had managed to get things stocked back in the corners before that man Evans got here. We have worked so hard to have everything in apple pie order when the cutter came. I wouldn't have cared so much if it had been Shields - he has seen enough to make allowances. However we had the kitchen floor, hall ways, stairway and living room floors painted and Raymond had finished "remodeling" the carpenter shop. I am sure there wasn't much for him to find fault with but he never opened his "trap" about anything and he talked to those natives more than to us. If we hadn't has so much else to think about I am sure I would have sat down and had a good cry as soon as he was out of sight. Heaven grant that our next inspector be Shields.

Day before yesterday I was out and gathered ½ gallon of wild cranberries. They are very small and slow gathering. The beauty of this fruit is it will keep just as it is all winter.

I must close. Raymond is making up the mail. The oomiaks are getting ready to go down the coast and unless we are "Johnnie on the Spot" with our mail sack they will go without it

Am so anxious to know where you will settle. I hope it isn't New Mexico.

Hope you are able to make this out.

Once more we pack our gear and travel. I don't mind if we are not hurried.

Yours ever, Margaret

Fifty Years of Alaskan Adventures

by David Schwantes

On January 3, 2009, Alaska celebrated its 50th anniversary of statehood, and today June 6, 2009, I am celebrating my 50th year as a resident of this great state. I graduated from high school in Spencer, Wisconsin on May 26, 1959, turned 18 on May 30th, and headed to Alaska on June 6th. The past 50 years have been great, and I have had many great adventures.

Now, when people think of "Alaskan Adventures," they think of hunting bear, catching a King Salmon, climbing Mt. McKinley, skiing down a mountain, or rafting the Nenana River. Well, I haven't done any of those things—BUT, great adventures mean different things to different people.

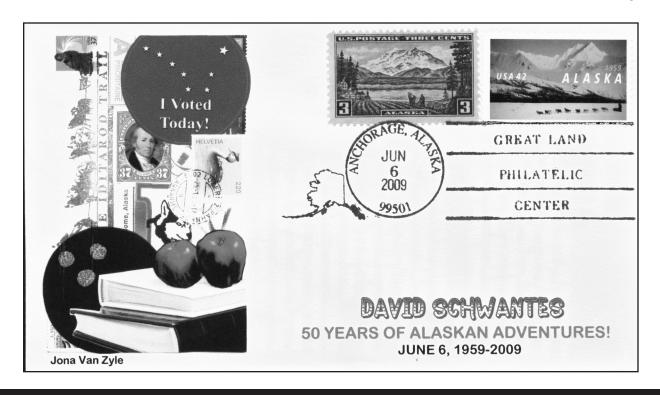

After arriving in Anchorage on June 6, 1959, I helped my aunt and uncle build their house during the summer, and then headed north to Fairbanks to attend the University of Alaska. I graduated in May of 1964 and began my twenty-eight year teaching career. I taught in Sitka, Bethel, and Adak before moving to Mt. Spurr on Elmendorf Air Force Base near Anchorage. I received my Masters of Education Degree from the University of Alaska-Anchorage in 1972. I spent 25 years at Mt. Spurr and retired in 1993.

Great Adventures do happen in elementary classrooms, and I had plenty. I worked with a group of dedicated and talented teachers and met many great parents; but it's hard to beat the adventures with the hundreds of students that were in my classes. I taught 3rd and 4th grade for those 25 years at Mt. Spurr, and we had great times. I still have many addresses of former students and their parents in my address book. In 1990 I was selected as the TEACHER-OF-THE-YEAR for both the City of Anchorage and the State of Alaska. It was a great honor, but it could have gone to so many other great teachers. My "teacher family" was very close, and we still get together even after years of retirement. I wish every teacher could have the joy I had during my 28 years in the classroom.

During my teaching career, I was very active and involved in my teacher union, the National Education Association, at the local, state, and national levels. I represented teachers on local and state boards, and even went to jail during a 1979 teacher strike in Anchorage, but we did what we had to do. I continued my involvement after retiring, and in 2001 was inducted into the NEA-AK "Hall of Fame." I am still active with the NEA-AK retired organization.

My hobbies and other interests kept me busy aside from my teaching. Since I was in the 6th grade I have been interested in government and politics. My 6th grade teacher in a one-room country school, Mrs. Martha Beahm, got us interested in the 1952 presidential election, and I have been politically involved ever since. I have worked on campaigns for our city government, the school board and our state legislature. I have testified before state legislative committees and have written many letters to government officials. Because Alaska has such a small population, it is easy to get to know our elected officials. I personally know both of our U.S. Senators and our Congressman. I have met all the governors Alaska has had in our 50 years as a state. I have discovered that one individual can make a difference, and since I was 18, have not missed voting in any election that I was entitled to vote in. THANK YOU MRS. BEAHM!

I became interested in collecting stamps my senior year in college, and have been a member of the Anchorage Philatelic Society since 1973. I am also a member of the Alaska Collectors Club, which studies and collects anything dealing with Alaska Postal History. I have produced many cacheted envelopes dealing with Alaska history and special events over the years. Although I am not a real athletic type of person, I have interest in many sports, and have been a member of the same bowling league for the past 40 years. Both of these hobbies have provided me with great adventures over the years.

You talk about Great Adventures, I have had many of them with my involvement with the IDITAROD SLED DOG RACE. It is my greatest love now that I have finished my teaching career. I have been involved with the race in one way or another since it began 37-years ago. For the past 20 years, I have traveled to Nome to watch the winner cross the finish line and to help with the mail the mushers carry in the race. I help stamp the mail, and then hand-cancel each piece. Over the years, I have cancelled about 75,000 pieces of Iditarod mail. I am a part of the "Iditarod Family", and have gotten to meet and know Joe Redington Sr., Susan Butcher, Martin Buser, Lance Mackey, Aaron Burmeister and DeeDee Jonrowe. Iditarod Great Adventures—MANY!

Were there other Alaskan adventures? Sure, many of them, but it would take a whole book. I moved from Spencer, Wisconsin to Alaska 50 years ago, and have never regretted it. I still get back to Wisconsin every summer for family reunions and visits with my friends, but Alaska is my home!

I would like to thank two stamp club friends, Eric Knapp and Bob Spaugy for helping me with this project. Also my good friend and local artist, Jona Van Zyle, for putting together the collage for the artwork on the cover. It really captures my 50 years in Alaska!

Looking for information on an Alaska Cachet Maker

Dear Eric.

I saw your name in an Alaska Collectors Club publication, and hope that you might be of some help (or can direct me to someone who can help) in identifying the designer of some cacheted first day covers from the late 1940's.

In conjunction with some other materials that I purchased in the same lot, I believe that they were almost certainly made by a hobby printer or perhaps in a school print shop in Sitka, Alaska. The addresses lead one to believe that the designer may have been a Joseph Barnas or his son (?) James Barnas. Are either of those names meaningful in Alaskan cover production?

Can you provide any insight into the origin of these covers? Any help you can offer will be greatly appreciated.

Thank you, Mark Lerner mlerner@acrconsulting.com

ACC Elections

Rules & Procedures of the Election

The official election ballot is included in this issue of TAP. Please complete the ballot and return it to the address on the ballot by January 31st.

The votes will be tabulated by an election board made up of ACC members who are not running for office. The results will be reported to the current Board of Directors, the candidates, and will be published in the first quarter issue of The Alaskan Philatelist. A news release will also be sent to the philatelic media.

The newly elected officers will assume office immediately and hold office until December 31, 2013.

Candidate Statements

CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT

Terry Shaw

Terry Shaw has collected stamps and coins for over 50 years and dreams of perhaps continuing this involvement as more of a part time business when he retires after over 35 years in Forest Service research next year or soon there after. He has a strong eBay presence having sold some 7,000 items, mainly postal history, there over the past 10 years. Terry started to focus on Alaska Postal History, particularly territorial airmails, some 20 years ago.

He is a co-author of the Alaska section in the current American Airmail Catalogue. Terry is a past president of the Gastineau Philatelic Society in Juneau, Alaska and has been the Auctioneer for the Alaska Collectors Club since the early 1990's.

While Terry has "begged-off" other club duties in the past owing to the time it takes to run the club auction, he has agreed to be nominated for ACC President this time as long as club members do not see a conflict of interest with his also continuing to be our Auctioneer.

CANDIDATE FOR VICE PRESIDENT

Angela Watson

I, like many other philatelists, developed the stamp collecting bug at an early age, probably about 10 or 11.

I have collected nearly all my life and have developed pretty good Canada and Australia collections if I do say so myself. My Alaska Postal History albums are filling with new material all the time, and I enjoy the sense of history when looking a new covers that make their way into my books.

I have been VP under Jim Zuelow for a number of years now and look forward to working with Terry Shaw. I will continue to work on enhancing the club's image and also the layout of the TAP newsletter.

CANDIDATE FOR SECRETARY-TREASURER

Eric Knapp

I started collecting stamps at age ten under the encouragement of my stamp collecting grandmother. I have been collecting ever since. I have collected Alaska related material for many years, concentrating on the U.S. Military in Alaska and philatelic covers from Alaska.

I have been an officer in several clubs and organizations over the years. I have been Secretary Treasurer of the ACC for the last four years. This is a good group and I have enjoyed the job.

These are challenging times for clubs such as ours, but I think we have a great future ahead of us. Let us work together to make this future a reality.

CANDIDATES FOR DIRECTOR

Dirk van Gelderen

I was born in 1957 in Boskoop, Holland and have always lived there. I started collecting when I was 5 and from the beginning I collected USA stamps which I still do. In the early 1970's my father and I started collecting Bosnia and Herzegovina (nobody then knew where that was) and together we built one of the largest collections now in existence. In 1984 I visited Alaska and as a memento I mailed from all towns visited a card home.

Directly afterwards, but still not really seriously I wrote to all other postmasters asking for a postmark. One was sent in error to the late Ray Fay of Mansfield, OH and he got me really hooked on Alaska Postal History. Currently I am trying to complete my catalogue of Alaska Statehood Postmarks which will be available on CD ROM together with Richard Helbock's work on the Territorials. It is also available on-line at www.esveld.nl/alaska/alaska.htm for free.

Richard Wood

I've been asked to be an ACC Director candidate. Some ACC members are interested in broadening the scope of the club to include all the collecting fields of Alaskana, not just postal history. I assume that postal history would still be the main emphasis. I'm fine with that if that's what folks want (it wasn't my idea). I've collected things most of my life. I don't collect postal history, but I've been a dealer of all things Alaska since 1982, including postal history.

Oddly, postal history was the very first thing I ever collected. When I was about 6, my parents made a trip to NYC. They returned with a present for me, an album with grid pages for cut-out postmarks. I enjoyed collecting postmarks for a while. Next came matchbook covers.

Later stamps, then coins. When I was a wildlife student at UAF I began collecting Alaska natural history books, then general Alaska books, then I found myself buying and selling Alaska books, then all of Alaskana. I intended to be a wildlife photographer, and did that for 5 years, but the thrill of the hunt for Alaskana pushed that to the back burner. From Fairbanks I'd make two-month buying trips to the northeast, one in the spring and one in the fall (the show seasons). I did that for many years. Everyone on the show circuit knew me and they called me "Mr. Alaska". Some would save great things for me. Oh, those halcyon days...

I also advertised heavily in about 50 different antiques newspapers. I bought & sold hundreds of thousands of Alaska things. I'm still at it. Of course eBay has changed everything. Most of the antiques newspapers are gone, and pickers don't need middlemen like me anymore. Today, I collect very early Alaska photography (my passion), especially stereoviews, magic lantern, and cartes de visite.

I also collect Alaska Native carved silver souvenir spoons, Alaska Native model watercraft, and early Alaska paintings. I once read every pre-1895 Alaska newspaper in existence, cover to cover, and saved stacks of xeroxes from that project, including the pertinent postal history. I'll pull the postal history notes together and write that up for the newsletter.

When I first saw mention of the ACC some years ago I assumed it was about collecting Alaskana. I was surprised to find that its focus was pretty much restricted to postal items. ACC members are interested in broadening the scope of the club to include all the collecting fields of Alaskana, not just postal history. I am a long time dealer and collector in many of the branches of Alaskana. My expertise is Alaska books, ephemera (member of the Ephemera Society for over 20 years), pre-1897 Alaska photography, and Alaska memorabilia. I'd be happy to help the ACC in any way I can. Thanks. Dick Wood, Juneau.

Michael Senta

Age 60, born and raised in Minnesota

Married to Penne, an accomplished Alaskan artist, and I have 5 children. Moved to Alaska as a General Surgeon during the pipeline boom in 1980.

I was a stamp collector up to 1980, then immediately became fascinated with Alaska Postal History when I moved here. Slowly over 20 years I sold off the stamp collection, and I have transferred the value and energy of that collection into accumulating a very nice Alaska Postal History collection.

I still work full time as a General and Trauma Surgeon, but am now able to spend a little more time on the hobby.

My other job is a sheep rancher. We live on a ranch with purebred Shetland sheep, plus llamas and bees and chickens. I think it is now the largest sheep ranch in Alaska.

I have been involved with the Alaska Collectors Club and TAP for over 25 years, and I now am able and excited to give something back to it.

Looking for Some Information

Hello Eric,

Greetings from that little island off the coast of Europe. I acquired a cover APO 733 (Big Delta) dated1953. In top left writer's details also "c/o Kirivit - Early Pouch # 1 Fairbanks Alaska" I am puzzled over the reference to "Early Pouch #1." Can you or any other club members help??? I am also interested in the Index Data Base.

Best wishes, John Spicer (member since 2002) jodasp@btopenworld.com

50 Years Ago...

In 1959, Castro leads Cuba to victory as Fulgencio Batista flees to Dominican Republic, "Bozo the Clown" live children's show premieres on TV, 1st transcontinental commercial jet flight on American (LA to NY for $301), the first Barbie doll goes on sale, Dalai Lama flees Tibet for India, "Some Like it Hot" with Marilyn Monroe & Jack Lemmon premieres, USAF launches Discoverer II into polar orbit and the following comments were noted in TAP issues:

The editor comments on the fact that he cleaned his stamp room and now can't find anything. He apologizes if some of the things he can't find are letters that need to be answered.

The contest to name the newsletter is complete, but the new name had not been chosen by the October issue. The name "The Alaskan Philatelist" was chosen and announced in the December issue.

There were letters from the Postmasters in Angoon, Annette and Anvik describing the towns and the mail service.

The December newsletter contains a proposed cancel classification method that could be used by club members. The editor in 2009 notes that it is a variation on the Helbock types used on most Alaska cancels today.

Coming Next Time...

The Raymond and Margaret Bates Correspondence continues with a I dramatic letter describing a overland Trip from Kivilana to Wainright by reindeer drawn sleigh in the middle of winter. Also, an interview and great article about the recent discovery of the SS Goddard, sunk in 1906.

APO/FPO Machine Cancels Used in AK

by Bob McKain

Ed. Note: APO refers to mail used at Army/Air Force Post Offices and FPO to Naval/Fleet Post Offices.

Having accumulated quite a hoarde of Alaska APO machine cancels both WWII and post war, it was determined that a more detailed listing could be attained to compliment the outstanding work on the subject as compiled in the 2 volume edition of Army Post Offices WWII published in 2006 by Bart Billings and the Machine Cancel Society (see references below). As can be seen in the following, year date changes caused many problems in multiple APO's. It is believed that late arrival of date slugs was the main cause for this problem.

Although the earliest APO postmarks contain the APO number in the dial, for security reasons, the government issued regulations effective July 1, 1942 that the APO# could no longer appear and rescinded this regulation effective March 10,1943. Alaska received this data a few days late (See APO's 937 and 942) and these early machine cancellations with the APO# showing are not common. We have also been able to list a new early date for the initial use of the Pitney Bowes/Universal Model K machine during WWII. It is from APO 937 and dated July 11, 1942. It predates the previous early reported date of July 27, 1942. The earliest reported machine cancel used at an Alaska APO is from APO 942 and is from an International Model HD and dated June 11, 1942.

The author appreciates any updates club members can provide and they will be reported in TAP, especially the redundant 731 Universal Model K used at APO 731 during January (no year date). It is the Army-Air Force Postal Service/APO 731 type. I can be reached at 57-vette@comcast.net or 2337 Giant Oaks Drive, Pittsburgh, PA 15241. Scans or Xeroxes of updates would be appreciated.

Where Will YOUR Stamp Collection Be in 20 Years?

by David Schwantes

While working at the booth at the Alaska State Fair, I had a chance to visit with a lot of people. Many of them talked about stamp collections. No, they were not asking about their own collections, but ones that were handed down to them from grandparents, aunts and uncles, or their parents. Most of the comments were in the area of, "What do we do with them"? Many of the people were not interested in stamp collecting, and no one in their family was either. They were at a loss about their value or what to do with them.

As I think about the members of our own stamp club, I realize that many of us are "up in years," and may not be around very much longer. So, I ask YOU, "Where will YOUR stamp collection be in twenty years?" Will it be in someone's hands at a stamp club booth or stamp show asking a collector what to do with it?

It's time for each of us to take a close look at our collection and think about it's future. Is there someone in your family who you will leave it to, and are you sure that they want it? Is your collection so big and varied that it's too complicated for someone to take control of? Is your collection organized, or just a great amount of "stuff" in boxes? These questions need to be asked, and then answered by YOU!

I know that my collection is of no interest to anyone in my family. I also know that it is not very well organized and that there is a lot of "stuff" in boxes. It is time for me to take charge and get things in order. I have enjoyed collecting the things I have, and that is what it is all about. I need to see that it doesn't stop with me, but goes to someone else who enjoys the same thing.

It doesn't have to be someone in my family. However, it's not fair to leave it to someone else to dispose of. It is up to me to get it organized, sell it off piece by piece if needed, or make arrangements for it to have a good family when I am gone.

I may not be here twenty years from now, but hopefully the things I have collected will be in the hands of someone who will continue with them and truly get some enjoyment out of them. Hopefully my Iditarod covers will be with a great Iditarod fan who will continue the series each year. Hopefully my Sarah Palin covers will be in someone's "Alaska History" collection and so on. Each of us must look into the future and picture our collections in a happy and wonderful home. Start thinking about it NOW!

Lastly, Page 15 of the Member Services Handbook at the APS website is very helpful for thinking about the final disposition of your collection. It is a free .pdf file download.

Most stampeders needed to build their own boats, having declined to drag a boat over the pass. The preferred wood cutting technique, known as "whipsawing," led to more than a few disagreements and fights. Logs placed on stands were sawed by one man standing on top of the log with one end of the saw and a second man standing below the log holding the other end. The work was so hard, that no matter which position he took, it was easy to for each man to believe that he was doing all the work.
