AWARDS

Colopex 2000—Silver-Bronze
Colopex 2002—Silver-Bronze
STaMpsHOW 03—Silver-Bronze

B-r-r-r-ief Notes

Journal Awarded Silver-Bronze

The Alaskan Philatelist was recently entered in the Philatelic Literature Competition at the 2003 APS StampShow held in August in Columbus, Ohio.

We again scored in the Silver-Bronze category (missing full Silver by just one point), which was a little disappointing, but gives us several goals to work toward in the next year or so.

We were told to change the front page so that it effectively separates the logo and name of the publication from any articles. So you will see that recommendation reflected in this issue of TAP.

Also, we were told that we really needed original and significant research articles. That's where you come in: we need a greater portion of the membership to write an article.

I know this is not easy for many of you. It isn't easy for any of us that are not experts on Alaska Postal History. But that's exactly the point: we need the diversity of all member's input. We have a few seasoned members who can help with technical details and the Editor will work with article writers via email to help them turn out a good final product.

Please consider writing about the area that you personally collect.

Member Profile

Unfortunately, there will no Member Spotlight feature in this issue, because, well, we sent out six requests and got back only two. Those have been exhausted and no one else has stepped forward yet.

Look to page 67 for the Member Questionnaire and consider taking a few moments to fill it out and send it in. Use this as your opportunity to contribute to the club.

Please contact Angela Watson (P.O. Box 3262, San Diego, CA 92163 or bleumoon@cox.net) and submit your info for the next one.

Auction Notes

This auction features a great collection of Alaskan First Day Covers. There are many unusual cachets, including some hand painted, and several interesting signatures! These covers are grouped at the end of the auction. They make memorable gifts! There is also an interesting selection of Alyeska Pump Station Stickers, on and off cover. ENJOY!

Secretary/Treasurer's Report

by David Schwantes

First of all, I want to apologize to the members who had the wrong year on their address labels on the last issue of TAP. I had both the 2001 and 2002 membership lists on my computer desktop, and on one of the updates, I mistakenly recorded them on the wrong membership list. I have it all straightened out now.

Things are fine here in Anchorage. We have had a beautiful summer, much warmer than usual, with a week's worth of days in the 80's. Some say that is too hot for us Alaskans. Now that fall is near, we are cooling off and getting more rain as usual. The State Fair begins next week, and school started on September 2nd, so we know that summer is about gone.

I will be busy with philatelic events over the next few months. I am working on a cover for the Anchorage Philatelic Society now which will honor the centennial's of Seward and Fairbanks. We will have them dual cancelled on the anniversaries of those two cities in August and November.

In October the Anchorage International Airport will be fifty years old, and we will be producing a cover to commemorate that event. The opening of the airport back in 1953 was one of the first covers sponsored by Anchorage club. I am also working to bring my exhibit "STAMP COLLECTING IN ALASKA" up to date as I plan to exhibit and attend MILCOPEX in Milwaukee, September 19-21. It will be my first time exhibiting outside of Alaska, so should be a fun and exciting experience. I am also thinking and planning for next year's APEX here in Anchorage, and the next running of the Iditarod. Well, that's what hobbies are all about—keeping busy and having fun.

Things are going well with the Alaska Collectors Club. Our treasury is looking healthy again, and the newsletters are looking great. As members, it is important to do your part in keeping things going. I know Terry Shaw needs items for the auctions, and Eric Knapp needs stories for the newsletter.

Remember that we will be electing new officers for next year. Our next newsletter will have the ballot in it, and before then we will be seeking members to fill those positions. Step up to the plate, and do your share! I have served as secretary for the past eight years, and look forward to turning the job over to someone else, although, I have enjoyed it.

I hope you have all had a great summer and that the autumn season finds you happy, busy, and enjoying your stamp collections.

President's Message

by Eric Knapp

I must start out by saying that I am running a bit behind schedule. This seems to be usual with me. The election information and election ballot will be in the next issue of TAP. Along this line, I am looking for people willing to run of office. The offices in the Alaska Collectors Club are important, but the jobs are not hard. I would encourage everyone in the club to consider running for office.

I also need to tell you that I am about out of original articles for TAP. I have a file of articles from other places, with copyright issues I will need to clear, but that are worth printing. But, TAP should be more than just a collection of reprints.

One reason we all collect is the knowledge we gain. But knowledge is always best when it is spread around and added to by others. I have said it before. Everyone has something they can write about in their collection. It does not have to be a "classic" item or a "scarce as hens teeth" cover to be worth writing about. Some of the best and most interesting articles I have seen over the years have been about "new" or "common" things.

Try this. Find your favorite item, and write down why it is your favorite. That is the outline of an article. Getting started can be that simple.

As an example, I am doing some research into some of the Alaska Cinderella and local stamps that are out there. I have several but know very little about them. I am going to find out what I can and write up what I find. The first of these will probably appear in the 1st quarter of next year. It should be an interesting hunt.

As we go into fall I can just say have a very good one. Go take in a stamp show someplace and have fun with your hobby. That is the reason for it.

Alaska's Bingles (what the heck is that?)

A radio program about Alaskan "coins"

by Thomas LaMarre

Editor's Note: Recently seen on ebay was a 10¢ denomination Bingle going for $75.00 and there was also listed a $5 Bingle that was listed for $175.00. Not a cheap collectible!

"North to the Future" is Alaska's state motto. But it could have been the battle cry of hundreds of Midwesterners who invaded Alaska's Matanuska Valley to beat the Depression.

As early as 1898, Congress appropriated money to investigate Alaska's agricultural potential. It recommended the establishment of several experimental farming stations, including one in the rich Matanuska Valley, northeast of Anchorage.

After the 1929 stock market crash, there was renewed interest in "America's last frontier." In 1935, the government sponsored an agricultural colony in Alaska. Hundreds of Midwesterners packed up their belongings and headed there. But the Matanuska Valley Project ran into trouble from the start. Non-stop rain turned the landscape to mud, and families had to live in tents until homes could be built. The colony stumbled along for five agonizing years. In the 1940s, most of the colonists gave up farming to take better-paying defense jobs.

But for coin collectors, the Matanuska Valley Project wasn't a complete failure. Alaskan colonists were issued their own coin substitutes or "tokens." They were called "bingles," and they were issued on the basis of family dependents. Bingles were only good at stores run by the Alaska Rural Rehabilitation Corporation—or "ARRC."

There were aluminum "pennies," "nickels," "dimes," "quarters" and "half dollars," and brass $5 and $10 tokens. But only a few thousand of most denominations were issued. They had the same design on both sides—the denomination and an inscription that the tokens were good in trade at ARRC stores.

Bingles were only used for six months. Then they were redeemed for regular United States money and destroyed. Those that were kept as souvenirs went on to become valuable collector's items.

This has been "Money Talks." Today's program was written by Thomas LaMarre and underwritten by Whitman Coin Products, a division of Golden Books, providing folders and albums for many popular coin series. "Money Talks" is a copyrighted production of the American Numismatic Association, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903, (719) 632-2646.

Delivery Time Over 90 Years Ago

by Seely Hall

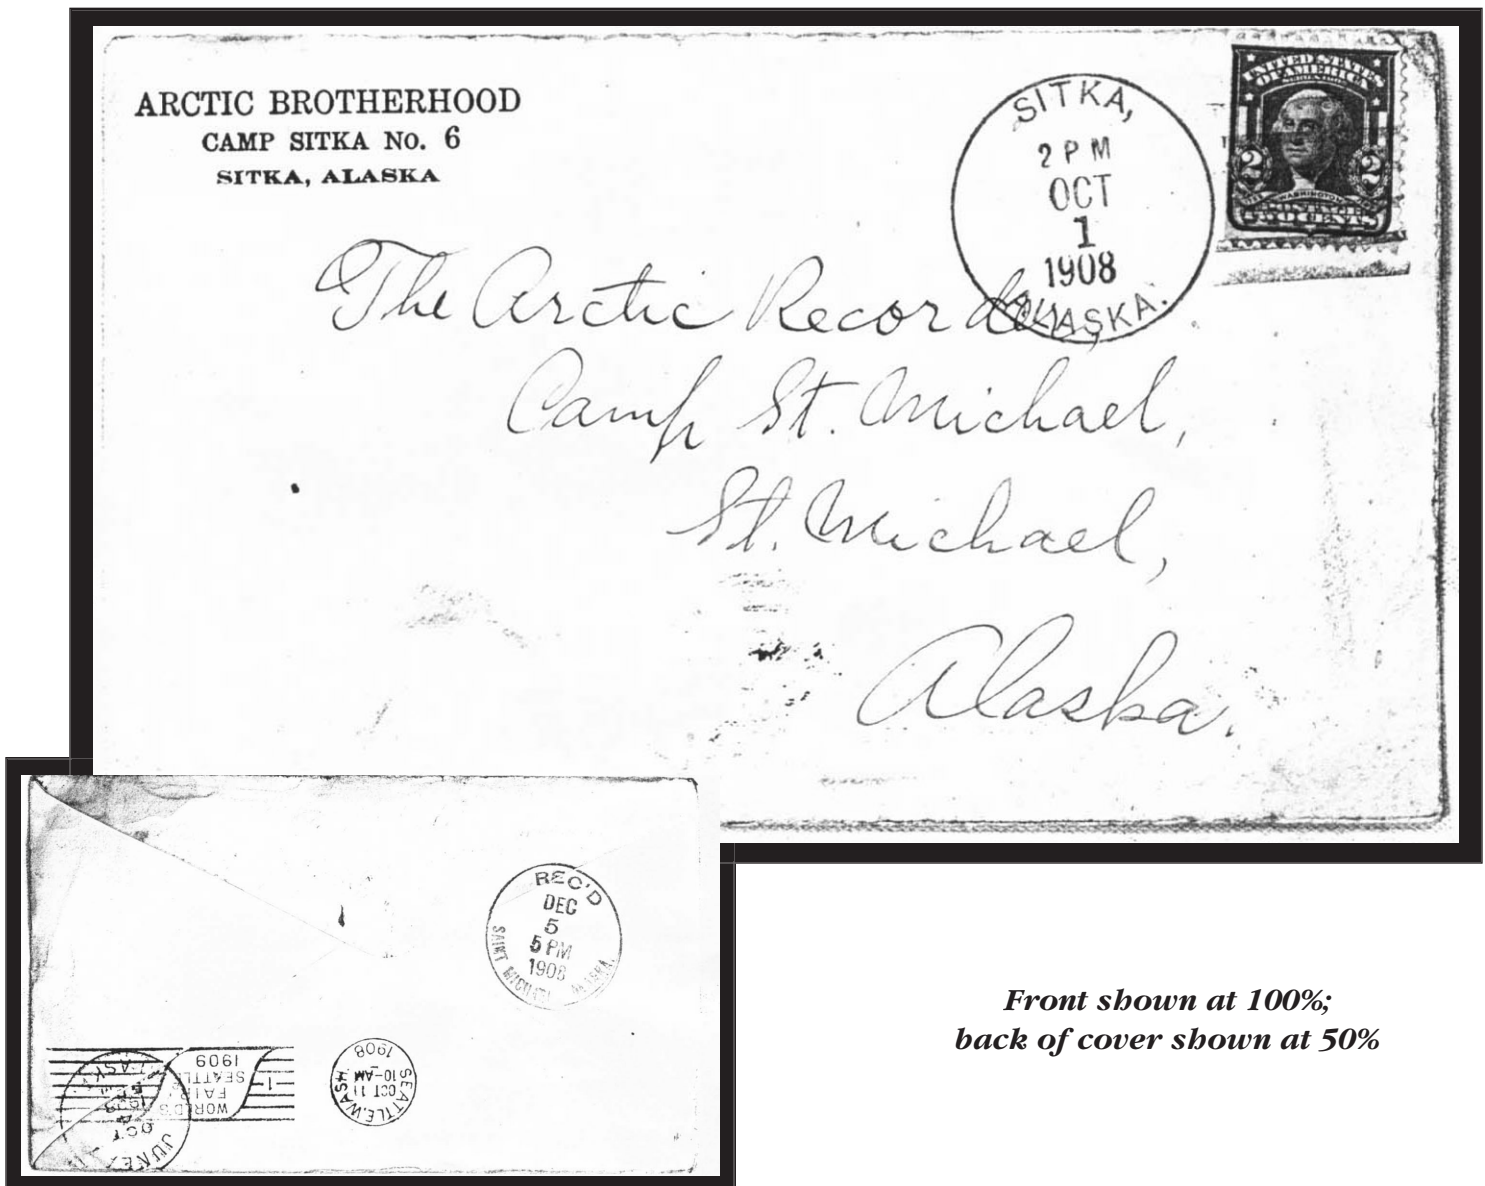

Here we have a 1908 cover from the Arctic Brotherhood, Camp Sitka No. 6 to its recorder in Saint Michael. If mailed today, a delivery time of a few days would be expected, but not in 1908.

Sitka's postmark is a variety of type 18, six bars struck rather than the usual four and in blue ink. Posted Oct. 1, 1908 it traveled by boat to Juneau, backstamped Oct. 4, 1908, presumably type 14 and perhaps carried by Juneau and Sitka RPO. Then rather than going north, it headed south to Seattle on Seattle and Seward RPO or Seattle and Skagway RPO, both in operation in 1908. We see a Seattle backstamp of Oct. 11, 1908, then, at last it headed for Saint Michael.

But how? Regrettably, no backstamp indications are present. A number of RPO's could have carried this letter. Perhaps Seattle and Kodiak if it made mainland stops, Seattle and Seward and Seattle and Skagway. Being winter, this most likely was carried from a mainland port by dog team in various stages to Saint Michael, finally reaching its destination on Dec. 5, 1908 as indicated by the Saint Michael Rec'd stamp type R-2, and the EKV in Helbock's 3rd edition.

If it started in Skagway the White Pass and Yukon R.R. could have also entered as a carrier in part. We really have no positive method of determining the exact carriers into and across interior Alaska but dog teams seem the best bet in winter. A delivery time of just over two months doesn't seem unreasonable but oh, how we would complain today!

Member Questionnaire for Newsletter Article

We're going to try a different tack with this feature. Here is the questionnaire, so now everyone can fill it out and send it in for publication in the newsletter. Please take a few minutes and send this in. We'd love to feature all our members in the newsletter. This is an especially important feature in a club with no regularly scheduled meetings. We will need three things from you:

- 1) this sheet with you filled in answers (add other sheets as necessary),
- 2) a recent photo of you (prefer clear, well- focused and good contrast photos), and
- 3) a color photocopy of your favorite piece of Alaskan Postal History.

Please drop all those things in the mail back to me at:

Angela Watson • P.O. Box 3262 • San Diego, CA 92162. Thanks!

1. Please list your name place of residence and age: _____

2. What is your occupation? _____

3. How did you become a stamp collector? _____

4. What about Alaska Philately interests you the most? _____

5. What specialties within Alaska Philately do you collect? _____

6. What other countries or areas do you collect? _____

7. What other philatelic study groups or organizations are you a member of? _____

8. Tell us about your favorite piece of Alaskan Postal History (include the color copy so we can scan and add to your article)._____

Legendary Barrow in the Far North Redux

by Hal Vogel

The rerunning of Dr. Miller's Postal History Series (concerning Alaska) in current issues of TAP is both a tribute to the insight of TAP's present editor and the original series' author (Ralph A. Miller).

Although these columns that first appeared in Western Stamp Collector are nearly a half-century old, they still are vibrant with poise and potent with Alaska postal history detail. They are as fresh and vital today as they must have been in the mid-20th Century.

Figures 1-4 provide illustrations and support some elaboration to the last Miller reprint that had Barrow, Alaska, as its subject. Although noting the evolution of how other than natives came to know about Barrow, there was no mention of its name derivation. This most northerly American post office was renamed by an 1825-28 British expedition. Frederick William Beechey aboard HMS Blossom, in support of John Franklin's Arctic land expedition, had entered the Bering Strait in the summer of 1825.

It must have been around 23 August 1825, when Blossom reached Point Barrow, that Beechey probably contemplated what he would call this place. The natives there already had a name for it (Nuwuk). This did not stand in the way of his renaming it after the energetic Second Secretary of the Admiralty, John Barrow.

If it needed a new name, 'Barrow' probably would have been fitting. Sir John became renowned for his vigorous support of exploring expeditions in the first half of the 19th Century, especially those by the British Navy to the Polar Regions.

Figure 1 is mail officially (free franked) sent by John Barrow (his baronetcy would be bestowed the following year) 8 May 1829 to Major Cooke-Lisle in Retford (Nottinghamshire) during the first half of his long Admiralty civil service career. Secretary Barrow, known for his tireless dedication to duty, must have been working late on the 8th. That style of free frank cancellation is identified as the one usually used for "evening duty" postings.

Free franks had to be countersigned by an official authorized their use. Barrow's signature appears in the cover's lower left. This would have been mailed shortly after the Second Secretary had been honored with the renaming of this most northerly U.S. Arctic village.

The Miller reprint about Barrow also mentions what seems to be the first official United States attempt to survey this region of Arctic North America. This would be the five-vessel 1853-56 U.S. North Pacific Exploring Expedition under (then) Lt. John Rodgers. The Alaska Arctic portion of this squadron's surveying occurred in the summer of 1855.

More on Barrow's History

from page 68

Figure 2 was mailed from New York 10 April 1853 from the Assistant Surgeon aboard one of the expedition's five vessels (USS Porpoise). It bears a "5cts" version of the post office's cancellation, indicating that it was not sent prepaid. Otherwise, it only would have been charged three cents for its delivery to James Stuart's mother (fig. 3) in Harrisburg, PA.

The USN Surgeon apparently was looking forward to a "great Expedition" (fig. 4) as he remarks (fig. 3) that they were about to leave for Norfolk, from where the expedition officially would depart. Surgeon Stuart's enthusiasm in his pre-departure mail from the expedition no doubt was severely dampened late in 1854.

Porpoise was lost at sea just prior to its rendezvous with the rest of the squadron for movement into the far North Pacific. Surgeon Stuart and the rest of the crew never were recovered.

Dear Mother,

Yours of the 7th came to hand to day. I have only to add to my letter of last night that I'm just as busy as one man well can be, getting aboard and examining instruments, making out inventories, &c. &c. Not having yet procured a steward, I am obliged to do twice as much writing as the other medical officers who make their stewards act as clerks as well as apothecaries. — Things are still progressing as usual. One of our Lieutenants came near being ^{by accidental discharge} shot with his own revolver this morning & thereby giving me my first gun shot case. I told him it was a punishment for shooting two barrels of it at deserters right before last, but he seemed to think deserters fair game.

I told you about my probably remaining aboard till we got to Norfolk. — By the way, don't dispose of that bedding. I may need some of it yet. Love to all.

Yours in haste affectionately

J. James H. Stuart

More Questions About Alaska's Post Offices

Editor's Note: This is a compilation of questions from several emails from Dirk and myself. I hope our membership can help with some of these questions.

I got the latest TAP, thanks for publishing the open letter! Hopefully something will happen. I am still building on my catalog and come occasionally across more question marks.

Here are a few:

Chickaloon.

It reopened in 1985 as a CPO, but what is the parent PO?

Badger Road, CPO of Fairbanks.

Still open? If not, when closed?

Chignik Lagoon.

Independent, a CPO or a Rural Branch? If not independent, what is the parent PO?

Clear AFB Branch.

Of what? Clear or Fairbanks? Open since? Still open?

Wasilla Contract Station No 3.

Still open? If not, when closed?

Wildwood, Branch of Kenai.

Was open from 1961-1970. Any postmark seen?

In the catalog I am progressing steadily, I have now about 1650 scans (with about 1775 to go, but I will never get them all, I will be quite happy if I am left with about 100 'holes', so in reality I am about half way). In the postmarks themselves I am farthest with about 1600 out of 2760 done (95% towns A-M), none of the precancels and just a few of the meters, pvi-labels, etc. are scanned.

If you do want to publish my questions again, the Internet address to the catalog has changed to www.esveld.nl/alaska/alaska.htm (there is a referral page on the old address)

Letter from Teller about the Airship Norge

by Per Ravensborg-Gjertsen

Letter from Teller (Alaska) to Rome on May 16, 1926 on Arrival of the Airship "NORGE" after the transpolar Flight Spitsbergen-Alaska across the North Pole by Amundsen-Ellsworth-Nobile.

In order to take photos from the arrival of the airship "NORGE" in Teller, Alaska after the flight from Spitsbergen via the North Pole and get news and information about the flight directly from the crew, two airplanes arrived near the landing place on May 16 1926 from Fairbanks. These airplanes were the Standard J-I Biplane "FAIRBANKS 1" of Fairbanks Airplane Corporation with Joe Crosson and Andrew Hufford and the Bennett-Rodebaugh's Waco 9, flown by A.A. Bennett and Ed Young. The first plane was chartered by Pathe News and the New York Times and the latter by International News Reel. Both planes arrived in Teller about noon, only to stay there a few hours before returning to Fairbanks via Nome.

Several members of the "NORGE"-crew requested the pilots to take personal mail with them on the flight back to Fairbanks, to send them from there or from a still better place for Europe, as mail sent from Teller would take further weeks. How many letters and cards the two pilots took with them in their airplanes. I do not know.

This letter, sent by the mechanics Renato Alessandrini to his wife/mother (?) in Rome, was taken with on one of these two planes from Teller on May 16, 1926, as stated in writing on the front of the cover. It bears US-postage of totalling 5 cents and has been post-stamped the following day "FAIRBANKS, ALASKA/9 PM/17 MAY/1926." On the backside arrival-postmark "ROMA CENTRO/10-II/14-VI 1926" has been applied, together with a transit-stamp " / 5 / " (?) and the Italian "NORGE" vignette, stamped with the oval violet expedition-cachet.

In order to give a better view of the chartered routings of these two airplanes, I refer here to their log-books, established from details in Alaskan Aviation History, Volume One by Robert W. Stevens, as follows:

A.) Fairbanks Airplane Corporation

*	Fairbanks	arrival	May17	06.15 PM

A few days later. Bennett and Young continued their flight:

*	Fairbanks	start	May 20	1245 PM
*	Dawson (Yukon)	arrival	May 20	05.55 PM
*	Dawson (Yukon)	start	May 21	07.00 AM
*	Whitehorse (Yu.)	arrival	May 21	evening

The two airmen arrived in time to make their connection to the ship from Skagway to Alert Bay (B.C.) on May 23. Here the films were taken over on May 27 by an airplane chartered from Seattle, piloted by Eddie Hubbard and T.G. Randolph of International News Reel as passenger, bound for Seattle again. Randolph brought the material on to Pasco (Wa.) in a car to reach the eastbound post-airplane to New York on the same day.

I have the following open questions, hoping fellow-members can help me answer:

- 1.) Are similar letters/cards sent from Teller by the "NORGE"-crew known to somebody? If so, please send me photocopy of both sides of such items.
- 2.) Is it known which plane and pilot or took both planes such mail for the "NORGE"-crew with him/ them from Teller to Fairbanks?
- 3.) Can anybody help me with the complete text of the transit-poststamp and/or from which place it is?
- 4.) What is the probable way the letter took from Fairbanks to place of shipment to Europe and Rome (1926)?
- 5.) From which US-cities were regular ship-services taking mail to South-Europe in 1926 and particularly during May 17 until June 10?
